

GENERAL PROVISIONSSection 1. Scope of this Act

This Act governs the procedure in the Courts of the Tribe in all suits of a civil nature whether cognizable as cases at law or in equity except where a law or ordinance of the Tribe specifies a different procedure. These rules shall be construed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action.

Section 5. Definitions

Unless a different meaning is clearly apparent from the context, the term:

(a) "Chief Executive Officer" shall mean the Principal Chief of the Sac and Fox Nation, unless a different meaning is attributed to this term in an agreement with another Indian Tribe which provides for the operation of an intertribal Court.

(b) "other Indian Tribe" shall mean any Federally recognized Indian Tribe other than this Tribe.

(c) "real property" or "non-trust interest in real property" shall mean any interest in real property within the Tribal jurisdiction other than the Indian trust title held by the United States for the use of any Indian or Indian Tribe, or the fee title to any land held by any Indian or Indian Tribe which is subject to a restriction upon alienation imposed by the United States. Nothing in this Act shall be construed as affecting or attempting to affect the trust or restricted title to trust or restricted Indian land.

(d) "reservation" means all the territory within the exterior boundaries of the Tribe as defined under the Treaty of May 18, 1854.

(e) "Tribal Legislative Body" means the Business Committee of the Sac and Fox Nation unless a different meaning is attributed to the term by an agreement with another Indian Tribe providing for the establishment of an intertribal Court.

(f) "Tribal jurisdiction" means all Indian Country as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 1151 whether within or without the reservation which is subject to the jurisdiction of the Tribe, pursuant to Article I of the Constitution of the Sac and Fox Nation of Indians of the Sac and Fox Reservation in Kansas and Nebraska.

(g) "Attorney General" means the Tribal Attorney.

Section 6. No Effect Upon Sovereign Immunity

Nothing in this Act contained shall be construed to be a waiver of the sovereign immunity of the Tribe, its officers, employees, agents, or political subdivisions or to be a consent to any suit beyond the limits now or hereafter specifically stated by Tribal law.

[History: L. 1993, January 6; R-30-92
PUBLIC LAW # T 6 § 6]

Section 7. Declaratory Judgment

The Court, in any actual controversy before it, shall have the authority to declare the rights of the parties in that suit in order to resolve disputes even though a money judgment or equitable relief is not requested or not due. In particular, the Court may issue its declaratory judgment recognizing Tribal common law marriages and divorces, and provide for the custody of children and division of property in such divorces.

PUBLIC LAW # T 6 § 10]

Section 11. Laws Applicable to Civil Actions

(a) In all civil cases, the Tribal District Court shall apply:

(1) The Constitution, Statutes, and Common Law of the Tribe not prohibited by applicable Federal law, and, if none, then

(2) The Federal law including Federal common law, and if none, then

(3) The laws of any State or other jurisdiction which the Court finds to be compatible with the public policy and needs of the Tribe.

(b) No Federal or state law shall be applied to a civil action pursuant to paragraphs (2) and (3) of Subsection (a) of this Section if such law is inconsistent with the laws of the Tribe or the public policy of the Tribe.

(c) Where any doubt arises as to the customs and usages of the Tribe, the Court, either on its own motion or the motion of any party, may subpoena and request the advice of elders and councilors familiar with those customs and usages.
